Caroline channels her love of data and desire to help others into her role as Client Services Associate. Her favorite thing about working at Grimes and Company is the supportive, cooperative work environment that is fostered by her colleagues.

Caroline graduated from Worcester State University with a bachelor's degree in business administration, a minor in political science, and a concentration in accounting. She also obtained a paralegal certification through Boston University. Prior to joining Grimes and Company in 2024, Caroline worked in the financial analytics industry for several years.

When she's not in the office, Caroline likes to spend time with friends and family, play with her dog, and read.
